

PhD Students Swiss Paraplegic Research

Structured PhD Program in Health Sciences

Collene Anderson 'Understanding the development and burden of neurogenic lower urinary tract dysfunction after SCI'

University Lucerne, Switzerland

Marco Bennardi 'Barriers and facilitators to the use of specialized palliative care in oncology and hemato-oncology in Ticino'

University Lucerne, Switzerland

Olena Bychkovska 'Responsive Health Care Systems for Persons with Spinal Cord Injury'

University Lucerne, Switzerland

Marissa Diaz 'Examining the views of palliative care nurses on assisted dying in the German-speaking cantons of Switzerland'

University of Lucerne, Switzerland

Amanda Folie 'Emotional, attitudinal and motivational factors affecting vocational integration of persons experiencing a physical disability: An examination of the perspective of individuals living with a spinal cord injury and employers'

University of Lucerne, Switzerland

Oche Itodo 'Cardiovascular Risk in Individuals with Spinal Cord Injury'

University of Berne, Switzerland

Katarzyna Karcz 'Sustained gainful employment after spinal cord injury or traumatic brain injury: A mixed-methods work life course study'

University Lucerne, Switzerland

Clara MacNaughton 'Evaluating Swiss Policies in the Scope of the Swiss National Strategy for Spinal Cord Injury'

Stefan Metzger 'The impact of rehabilitation for persons with spinal cord injury'

University of Lucerne, Switzerland

Ana Lucía Ona Macías 'The health-income gap: to what extent does inequality explain the living situation of people with spinal cord injury'

University Lucerne, Switzerland

Boris Polanco 'Disability and Social loss towards a Population Aging'

University Lucerne, Switzerland

Enxhi Qama 'Self-management of spinal cord injury'

University of Lucerne, Switzerland

Peter Raguindin 'Determinants of cardiometabolic health in spinal cord injury'

University of Berne, Switzerland

Rebecca Tomaschek 'Collaboration of general practitioners and specialists for patients with complex chronic conditions: the case of spinal cord injury in rural Switzerland'

University Lucerne, Switzerland

Dima Touhami 'Collaborative Model in primary care for individuals with Spinal Cord Injury: Shared responsibility between general practitioners and highly specialized centers for the health of individuals with spinal cord injury'
University Lucerne, Switzerland

Ezra Valido 'Oral immunotherapy for the prevention of urinary tract infections in persons with spinal cord injury'
University of Lucerne, Switzerland